224, Union Street,

Aberdeen, April 21, 1874.

Sir,

Dr. Fiddes having informed me that he has resigned his Surgeoncy to the Royal Infirmary, I beg to offer myself as a candidate for the vacancy thus created. Should I be elected, I am prepared to resign my present post of Ophthalmic Surgeon. I beg to solicit your support and influence, and I am,

Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

ALEX. DYCE DAVIDSON, M.D.

224. Union Street,
April. 21st 1874.

Dear Sir,

On reconsideration of the subject & consultation with my professional friends, who believe that my present position in the Infirmary is more valuable than the one just vacant, I would beg respectfully to withdraw the letter of application I sent yesterday

I am, Your obedient Servant

Alex: Dyce Davidson
